

Conflicts of Interest Form

All authors of manuscripts published in Annals of Clinical Neurophysiology must complete a conflicts of interest form as part of the manuscript submission process. The corresponding author is responsible for obtaining completed forms from all authors of the manuscript. The disclosure of a potential conflict of interest will not necessarily affect the probability of a manuscript being accepted for publication.

Examples of potential conflicts of interest are financial support from or connections to pharmaceutical companies, political pressure from interest groups, and academic-related issues. In particular, all sources of funding applicable to the study should be stated explicitly.
